

Notice To All Nairaland Graphics Section Members(must READ) - Art, Graphics & Video - Nigeria posted by erad

It has come to my attention in recent times that some people come to this section to paste works which are gotten from various other designers and websites and claim the ownership and credits.

First, this is illegal... but the illegal aspect is none of my business, nah you and police go dey drag that one.

To me and other loyal, hardworking and truely creative members of this section, it is totally wrong, unprofessional, demeaning and unethical.

On this note, with the help of my vigilant fellow designers... anybody discovered to paste and take credit for design works that are not theirs in this section will be liable to a Two(2)-Week ban and the particular post or thread will be hidden/removed. If you must paste any design work that is not yours, have the decency and courtesy of mentioning and appreciating the original designer. How would you feel if you spent hours behind a computer depriving yourself of alot of things just to make that awesome design and somebody somewhere is taking the credit for it??

Yes Sir, roger that,, but why re most of DÌ...ì²ì¶ì¥ìŠ graphics section topics not makin it 2 DÌ...ì²ì¶ì¥ìŠ frontpage?

Because most of them are in form of adverts and topics having the implication of an advert are against frontpage rules. Besides, i'm just having time to do stuffs here so henceforth i'll ensure i recommend more deserving topics to the frontpage. Any topic you feel deserves the frontpage from now, try to bring it to my notice please. You know i can't do all these alone.
Thanks

What about redicting i± picture?? All Uì...ì²ì¶ì¶ì¶ need is the background, i± particular object nd Uì...ì²ì¶ì¶ì¶ just want to mimic the concept? Is it wrong?? Nd what of pictures that Uì...ì²ì¶ì¶ì¶ got frm the internet that are without copyright. Do Uì...ì²ì¶ì¶ì¶ have to create frm the scratch everytime?? Do all good graphic artists do that?? Apart from nairaland, is there anyother legal restrictions I should know?? Thnks!!

You are getting the whole thing wrong... calm down and read through it again. No one is saying you shouldn't use other people's materials to develop yours, what we are saying is you shouldn't bring someone else's ready-made work without changing anything there or improving on it and claiming its your own.

Hello people, plz am a new bie here and am delighted by most of the collaborations and assistance goin on hia. Am a graphic designer and use corel draw in my designs but I felt am not yet good as I taught I would have being by now cuz I left d field for som time in pusuit of other things. So am pleading to d people in dis forum for an assistance to b like most of u. I need a good site to look at some eye catching good designs, good softwares lyke 3d tins and if there is any software that crop neat picture automatically outside magic wand in corel photo paint. Thank uuuuuuuuuu OP na wa ooo... Are we kids... Sha most guys here are...

But the landscape art I did with MS paint was one of those I learnt from Ben Saber on Youtube... Yea... I learn and I practice... I am a very, and I repeat, very good Artist. What I am lacking now is how to make sculpture on canvas, and I know I'll get there soon...

So please, the fact that you lack the skills to do something doesn't mean others can't. Ughh!
