

Help! My Wife Doesn't Want To See My Best Friend In Our Apartment Again - Family - Nigeria posted by Domipraiz

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail.
Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perpers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

Posted 11:08pm

PerfectStranger

Women and gossip 5&6. Big red flag.

Imagine the little drama they created in your compound due to Cho Cho Cho.

youngreezy

Op,that one na their business oooo,no make women matter make you and your nigga get problem... anybody wey wan gossip,na em cup of tea/coffee, just ignore everybody and dey your lane with strict face, everybody head go correct

Sweetplum

It's just normal gossip stuffs naa

Lonestar124

You are a man, protect the interest of your innocent best friend, he has nothing to do in this gimmicks, as for her sister, my brother just mind your business and leave her to your wife....

Don't be too emotional, that is one of women maladies....

I can't believe this will be perturbation to you as a man.....

OriOko88

Can someone summarize this for me? KO yemi rara. Cant comprehend. So dazed rt now. Three rounds of pounding taking it's bit on me 🤔🤔

nonen

Tell your friend that his sister is mischievous and trying to damage your marriage to your wife and relationship with other neighbours. Tell him that your wife has decided that no friends come to the house going forward until these issues are resolved.

You can always meet your best friend outside your home.

Your wife is a responsible woman and has made the right decision. If she continues association with that woman, youâ€™d be here next year saying women are scum or that youâ€™re divorced.

You can choose your wife and respect her decision and have peace or choose your best friend and his irresponsible sister and make your peaceful home a circle of crisis!

oz4real83

Forget that your wife is doing her Msc, what I draw from this is that the woman, your wife and the other women in that house are full-time housewives and gossiping is a common issue with full-time housewives, the Msc programme is just an excuse because it isn't full-time like undergraduate programme, your wife has excess time in her hands especially when ASUU strike gave her more time. Get a job or setup a business for your wife and this issue will die down on its own.

Truvelisback

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail.

Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally has a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she think my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just want to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife have developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

It's simple. U and ur wife can avoid her without attracting any quarrel. How? Whenever she comes, ur wife should pretend like she wants to go to somewhere, or pretend to be tired or feeling sick and wants to sleep or pretend to be sleeping, etc. In that way, she will take her Busybody elsewhere.

Foodqueen

Leave your wife to handle the wheel.

She is a no nonsense person. She's trying to cut all tides, which is very good for everyone including you.

Start planning your hangout with your paddy outside. Am sure he will understand. Cos he knows the kind of person his sister is.

As them no gree tame her behavior when she de small.

MALIGNANTGuest

That's exactly what marriage does.

It takes just 1 woman to destroy the covalent friendship existing among 5 boys in given family.

Don't rejoice yet if you are a proud father of 4 boys. Problems usually starts when they start getting married and bringing their wives home.

Then u will be shocked how the woman u married will start planting seed of discord among family members so as to as see if she could get her husband's undiluted attention.

Savedday

Women can't stay in a place without causing kata-kata.

I fear person wey no fear this gender!

Very useless gender

NaturalKinzzy

Crazy things are happening

Rozross

Your wife is even more of a husband than you, she took a decision that you refused to take. Learn to create boundaries in marriage even if it involves your parents.

priceactionx

When she knocks next time, don't open the door. If she open the door without you knowing, and buzz in, you and your wife should enter the room leaving her back in the parlour. Don't just utter a word.

Do it twice concurrently. Stay in the room and start talking to your self with laughter. She will get pained and leave. Repeat it without insulting her. She will get the message and become bitter, but una no send her.

If you are not careful, she will soon tell your wife she saw you romancing another neighbour's wife when her husband is far away. You better be wise.

tuzle

Rozross:

Your wife is even more of a husband than you, she took a decision that you refused to take. Learn to create boundaries in marriage even if it involves your parents.

so he should cut off his best friend just because of his wife. If the guy has been helping him in one way or the other nko. if u have fight with my sister, that is two of u problem, don't add me into the issue I know nothing about.

Baronthecelebri

Speak to your friend, let him talk to his sister. But sometimes women I tired for them o,

Crampyblood

"lete go straight to the point" before this long epistle..

heykims

Judging with the way this story is narrated, this op himself is a gossipier..

blaquebelle

Truvelisback:

It's simple. U and ur wife can avoid her without attracting any quarrel. How? Whenever she comes, ur wife should pretend like she wants to go to somewhere, or pretend to be tired or feeling sick and wants to sleep or pretend to be sleeping, etc. In that way, she will take her Busybody elsewhere.

It's possible the gossiping lady might still make trouble or keep malice after observing all these.

tuzle:

so he should cut off his best friend just because of his wife. If the guy has been helping him in one way or the other nko. if u have fight with my sister, that is two of u problem, don't add me into the issue I know nothing about.

He doesn't need to cut his friend off entirely, they could always meet outside. I think the wife wants to avoid any situation where the lady feels comfortable barging in again, seeing her brother in their place.

blaquebelle

MALIGNANTGuest:

That's exactly what marriage does.

It takes just 1 woman to destroy the covalent friendship existing among 5 boys in given family.

Don't rejoice yet if you are a proud father of 4 boys. Problems usually starts when they start getting married and bringing their wives home.

Then u will be shocked how the woman u married will start planting seed of discord among family members so as to as see if she could get her husband's undiluted attention.

I'm not sure how this relates to the particular scenario painted by the OP. Or you're accusing that his wife is just needlessly planting a seed of discord. You don't think the situation warrants her decision?

MALIGNANTGuest

blaquebelle:

I'm not sure how this relates to the particular scenario painted by the OP. Or you're accusing that his wife is just needlessly planting a seed of discord. You don't think the situation warrants her decision?

My present opinion is a digression from the index Topic, however it's something that has eaten deep into the fabrics of many families.

It's almost everywhere.

Only a woman can severe the mutual relationship shared by identical male twins.

How women come into families and severe age long family relationships can not be overemphasized. However, these same women immediately sustain theirs by inviting their siblings into their matrimonial homes.

Some come in the name of assisting to carry babies. Some come in the name of seeking for special centers for JAMB. Thereafter these siblings become permanent residents in your house ready to fight you the moment you scold their sister, your wife.

Better look well before you marry!

Most times marriage is not what it is presumed to be. People have been lied to for years!

Truvelisback

blaquebelle:

It's possible the gossiping lady might still make trouble or keep malice after observing all these.

He doesn't need to cut his friend off entirely, they could always meet outside. I think the wife wants to avoid any situation where the lady feels comfortable barging in again, seeing her brother in their place.

She won't if done properly. However, i do not mean keeping enemy with her. U can happily exchange pleasantries without sounding like she is a thorn in ur flesh. Then pretend to be busy like cooking in the kitchen, cleaning the house, etc. As for Op, he and his friend can still maintain their friendship.

intruder15

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail.

Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally has a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she think my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just want to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife have developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

You ignore and act like nothing happened. If they choose not to talk to each other, good for everyone.

They no de do friend friend enter wahala for marriage.

Vinnie2000

OP, In Marriage, Communication is Key.

Tell ur Wife to learn how to Forgive and Manage the Shortcomings of Others!

In this Life, Most Humans have their Flaws and are NOT Perfect!

If It's Her Sister who did a Wrong, Will She Push her Away like That

Vinnie2000

OriOko88:

Can someone summarize this for me? KO yemi rara. Cant comprehend. So dazed rt now. Three rounds of pounding taking it's bit on me 🤔🤔

O Boy, The Story eh...

Make I Nor lie, I No read am well o.

I Just comment Based on the Headline 🤔

HarlequinLekex

Kindly help this op move this to family section and Fp,Lalasticala,Seun,Mynd44,Dominique,Mukina2,nlfpmod

Brian47

Sir pls don't allow your wife destroy your friendship with your friend that you've already had for years.

Robertgreene1

Interesting...

Sorry 2 ask bro but is that ur place..."face me I face you"...cus this one pass..."Fuji House of commotion"..

Jozilinn

Your wife caused all this at first why did she confront the other woman,she shouldn't have done that cos the other woman would think low of her like seriously...Dem say,u say,who say,I hear say,u talk say, it's just terrible.

Your wife isn't perfect as well as everyone else in this world, don't use your mistakes to judge or hate others abeg.Let your friend keep coming to see you there is nothing wrong there oga! Your wife isn't you you don't take sides when 2 women are fighting...

Make your wife to understand this plain and simple...this should teach her a lesson never entertain gossip cos even you go be topic tomorrow na wetin the woman talk we hear your wife own nko. Please sir don't top associating with the said woman in question cos 4 this life help can come from anywhere oh... but now more than ever your wife would have sense.

One day those 2 women would be friends again and guess who is going to be the enemy "your wife" so she shouldn't keep hatred with anyone least she loses everyone.

Tboy222

This is but a little matter here at hand, I pray the Lord Grant you the grace this temptation withstand. I pray God given wisdom on you abound, and the courage to settle on you be found

The devil is nothing but a liar, having been doomed by the Father to eternal fire. But I advise you tap to his grace, and He will cause His wisdom to shine on your face.

grandstar

Domipraiz

Inform your friend about what her sister did and that because of that, she does not want to see him. Let him just know it's not your doing.

I would suggest you listen to your wife. Your friend may naturally want to settle the rift between your wife and his sister. This may bring them close again and this may partly be why she's does not want her brother around.

It is best she keeps a far distance from her. You can always visit your friend in his house. He too may know his sister's tendency to gossip and the damage it has caused to many

BigYash

Balance the equation by stopping her frds from coming around too.

Come blike your wife na the head of your house 🍷

Is your other frds gossipers too?

Cux ayam not understanding it from that point of view

Hobbiton

Women r natural gossips regardless of what they do. It's like cigarettes for them.

Lol.

Komu1048

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail.

Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

When I saw the headline I even thought it's something similar to what I am facing with my uncles wife. I don't know u people r jus bunch of confused people.

Btw I hate toxic women

CrateofBeer

You, your wife, and the gossipier are the same. Gossipers living on fuji house of commotion

Basseybruce

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail.

Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

hey, this is the time for you to act like a man... Man up and handle the situation. Serve everyone what they deserve and I fervently believe you know this...

worldclass68

OP even get time dey follow wo-MEN matter sef...

Nah u go tired

lomprico

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail.

Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

You better obey your wife!

Some women sha! (Not your wife o! Cos she is smart)

bewla

Sweetplum:

It's just normal gossip stuffs naa

You like it abi

Don't tell me it's a profession

Apro

FuckDModz

This one too na man.

Kelemu

Savedday:

Women can't stay in a place without causing kata-kata.

I fear person wey no fear this gender!

Very useless gender

Remember say your mama ma woman o.

BreakingNews21

Low caste ghetto tingz. that's all I have.

OKOATA

Stop acting like a sissy man, your wife is more matured than you cos on a normal day as a man this isn't even an issue, cos if not you sef like gossip as a man. Sha for now stay far off from that sister woman oga, if your friend comes around fine if he doesn't fine.

samwash

@op, so waytin happen for compound na you stil bring to there so,abi you think say we nor dey NL ?

Executer

Edit your comment and remove that Mrs. Ade.... Don't underestimate the coverage of nairaland

olisaEze

So you recharged ur phone battery and data to coman complain in the market square about house wives gossip in ur compound?? Why on Godâ€™s green earth will a manâ€™s problem be any of this u wrote up there or ours?? If u donâ€™t know what to do, go out and watch la liga till late, then come back and boink ur wife till sheâ€™s too tired to walk or talk! Do it for the next three market days and ur wife will only have u on her mind instead of gossip. BTW be like say u too na gossip too, why would u put up ur neighborâ€™s name on SM??

TheSpellChecker

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail. Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman. (Who thinks who is getting closer to who?)

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku. ?

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perpers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

I am so ashamed reading this.

Your grammar is so poor.

Is this the type of nonsense you want to teach your kids, Mr. Married Man? 🙄🙄🙄

TrebleChamp

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail. Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

If your wife doesn't want to see your best friend in your apartment, you guys should find a joint and hang out whenever you want to meet. By the time the hangout becomes frequent, she would ask you why and you then remind her sikenana....

detectivejones

Everyone knows that whenever 2 or 3 women are gathered gossip is abound. There is no how you'd listen to someone's incessant gossip without contributing to it, so your wife is guilty as well. BTW I can't believe a man involved himself in women's them say them say matter.

rali123

I have never entered any flat in my house, do we even see, we might not see each other in a month, I only hear cars drive in and out sometimes, that's how I know I have neighbours. They should all get busy including your wife(in her house and not entertain rubbish), they will settle soon and the circle continues.

grandstar

Lonestar124:

You are a man, protect the interest of your innocent best friend, he has nothing to do in this gimmicks, as for her sister, my brother just mind your business and leave her to your wife....

Don't be too emotional, that is one of women maladies....

I can't believe this will be perturbation to you as a man.....

Would you support his friend's sister being close to his wife again!? That's what will natural happen once his friend starts coming to his home. He would try his best to reconcile them and their friendship may be rekindled.

He should be the one visiting his friend henceforth. He can also buy gifts on his first visit to his friend that the war between the two women is their own beef and it shouldn't affect theirs.

Kobicove

Don't let your wife drag you and your friend into a matter that does not directly concern you 🙄

WHITELIGHTER

MALIGNANTGuest:

My present opinion is a digression from the index Topic, however it's something that has eaten deep into the fabrics of many families.

It's almost everywhere.
Only a woman can sever the mutual relationship shared by identical male twins.

How women come into families and severe age long family relationships can not be overemphasized. However, these same women immediately sustain theirs by inviting their siblings into their matrimonial homes.

Some come in the name of assisting to carry babies. Some come in the name of seeking for special centers for JAMB. Thereafter these siblings become permanent residents in your house ready to fight you the moment you scold their sister, your wife.

Better look well before you marry!
Most times marriage is not what it is presumed to be. People have been lied to for years!

Spot on!
Same thing happened to my late brother

Grace2023

heykims:
Judging with the way this story is narrated, this op himself is a gossip..

chai 🇳🇮

Kobicove

OriOko88:
🇳🇮
Can someone summarize this for me? KO yemi rara. Cant comprehend. So dazed rt now. Three rounds of pounding taking it's bit on me 🤔🤔

No do pass yourself. 🇳🇮

Instead of you to just do 1 or 2 rounds you went and did 3 rounds, now see the result

buchiuzor

ASUU should just call off the strike and things will return to normal

SIRTee15

heykims:
Judging with the way this story is narrated, this op himself is a gossip..

I agree, seem him self dey enjoy the gist.
Someone said that somebody said that another person said that the other person said that....na so gossip dey be.

And what the op wrote look exactly same. I can't even decipher who said what in the story.

jaxxy

That ur friends sister should be avoided bt have u told ur friend about all his sister has dome so he understands the whole situation and why ur wife doesn't want any more drama from them?

ur friend visiting u and the sister being avoided by u ehile living in same compound will only create more unnecessary issues for u guys.

U can always see ur friend in his house not at urs or at a different location not ur house now. unless ur friend usually comes to vist his sister then he might also check on u same time.

okoroemeka

Domipraiz:
Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail.
Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

akuko mama Ngozi na ndi yard

wallarwallar

People sbud always mind dere business why wud ur wife allow her to always come to ur flat look like ur wife like gossiping and now they wud soon drag u to dere mess. Be good to ur neighbours but avoid any close relationship

grandstar

TheSpellChecker:

I am so ashamed reading this.

Your grammar is so poor.

Is this the type of nonsense you want to teach your kids, Mr. Married Man? 🤔🤔🤔

Not everybody had the joy of a fantastic education. (1 Cor 4:7). There's a family friend who who never given home work throughout his primary and secondary education. He later went to a university. He is in the UK now.

I once worked as the Admin manager of a private security company. I was in charge of documentation of new security operatives. I was a little disappointed when many did not know they finished their secondary school.

It later dawned on me that many never finished. They dropped out of school. I, who went to private schools from nursery to secondary school(except for a one year stint in a command school) took a while to comprehend. We are not all the same.

We should show empathy by ignoring such mistake and focus on the purpose of this thread. He would appreciate that.

gigabyte13

Na you l pity pass

You had better obey her

Before you come turn to total stranger in that same house

OriOko88

Kobicove:

No do pass yourself. 🤔

Instead of you to just do 1 or 2 rounds you went and did 3 rounds, now see the result

Na d girl no gree oo.. She kept giving me those lowly moans wey dey ginger me and that kept me going 🤔 I actually spent almost three hours on her changing to different positions I can remember. I just realized say no matter wat,na man go tire laslas. Those girls can't get tired.

dbestuncle

Abi your wife go beat you ni?.

Tell her that she can quarrel n even stop the gossip anywhere close to her n her family (women business not your problem) but your friend is not within her reach, she must respect her husband n your friend as much as she ought to.

Gbam!

Freshgrace4life

Won so pe , won ni pe , nigbati nigbati.

BABANGBALI

All of una for that compound no get work

Handsomebb

Proceed with caution.

kingsley38162

Your wife is even more of a husband than you, she took a decision that you refused to take. Learn to create boundaries in marriage even if it involves your parents. Your wife is even more of a husband than you, she took a decision that you refused to take. Learn to create boundaries in marriage even if it involves your parents....

OnionBandit

oz4real83:

Forget that your wife is doing her Msc, what I draw from this is that the woman, your wife and the other women in that house are full-time housewives and gossiping is a common issue with full-time housewives, the Msc programme is just an excuse because it isn't full-time like undergraduate programme, your wife has excess time in her hands especially when ASUU strike gave her more time. Get a job or setup a business for your wife and this issue will die down on its own.

open a business for her like as if that business won't bring her more gist partners...especially If it's a shop business(another gisting ground) 🍷

E be like you no know women o

iamsolasoul

She used reverse psychology to find out if they were gossiping about her and also tested your wife's loyalty and she failed woefully usually when someone says don't confront it means it didn't happen. Confronting would expose the truth. Not in all situations sha sometimes in love situations confronting is not necessary the truth is always in the jokes however leveling up is.

Okealaaye

Do not be a fool! Whoever your wife doesn't want stays out of your marriage. Likewise you also. Why should anyone destroy his life just to accommodate an Outsider?

Str8talk21

Hmmm...guy...for me...just give your wife serious warning not to report her dealings with your friend's sister to you, that whatever she sees, let her take. That as for your friend, he can come into your home but as for his sister, you are leaving it for your wife to decide if she wants her to come in or not.

Make every gender settled their matter. 🍷

alyarmouk

I'm sincerely ashamed of you. And you call yourself man of the house ?
You're on your way to sacrificing your marriage for your best friend's friendship.

drololaaf

nonen:

Tell your friend that his sister is mischievous and trying to damage your marriage to your wife and relationship with other neighbours. Tell him that your wife has decided that no friends come to the house going forward until these issues are resolved.

You can always meet your best friend outside your home.

Your wife is a responsible woman and has made the right decision. If she continues association with that woman, you'd be here next year saying women are scum or that you're divorced.

You can choose your wife and respect her decision and have peace or choose your best friend and his irresponsible sister and make your peaceful home a circle of crisis!

Well said ,it is better to avoid the woman in totality, she brake your marriage if she is not stopped now before she tell your wife that XYZ are your concubines, before you get yourself on your marriage is over . Study your wife too oh ,because women are tricky.

Mercury12

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail.
Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

nothing should consign u with women business. It is their talk. You and your friend relationship shouldn't be affected by it. . .

Princessogaraya

nonen:

Tell your friend that his sister is mischievous and trying to damage your marriage to your wife and relationship with other neighbours. Tell him that your wife has decided that no friends come to the house going forward until these issues are resolved.

You can always meet your best friend outside your home.

Your wife is a responsible woman and has made the right decision. If she continues association with that woman, youâ€™d be here next year saying women are scum or that youâ€™re divorced.

You can choose your wife and respect her decision and have peace or choose your best friend and his irresponsible sister and make your peaceful home a circle of crisis!

You get brain

Sethaaron

Just pack out sir

Heartfelt727

Lonestar124:

You are a man, protect the interest of your innocent best friend, he has nothing to do in this gimmicks, as for her sister, my brother just mind your business and leave her to your wife....

Don't be too emotional, that is one of women maladies....

I can't believe this will be perturbation to you as a man.....

Abi o ma bro

Please bro help with data
0703 896 5847

LienwaltAbel

Kelemu:

Remember say your mama ma woman o.

You for leave the mumu to loseguard.

iitaninja

This is an entire sent of jobless and under-engaged people.

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail.
Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

LOVEGINO

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail. Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

bro its just well. I ve experienced such also. They re all d same.

GboyegaD

Why is your wife adding you, your friend, and the woman's husband into the mix? Oga, if she can't give you a good reason beyond this her fight with the woman, tell her not to involve you guys.

I understand the need for peace in your home however, marriage isn't a prison and it isn't about just one party. You deserve your peace and happiness as she deserves hers.

What you could do for her is to restrict the gossip from coming to your house.

Yankee101

Move out of a compound house

GboyegaD

MALIGNANTGuest:

My present opinion is a digression from the index Topic, however it's something that has eaten deep into the fabrics of many families.

It's almost everywhere.

Only a woman can severe the mutual relationship shared by identical male twins.

How women come into families and severe age long family relationships can not be overemphasized. However, these same women immediately sustain theirs by inviting their siblings into their matrimonial homes.

Some come in the name of assisting to carry babies. Some come in the name of seeking for special centers for JAMB. Thereafter these siblings become permanent residents in your house ready to fight you the moment you scold their sister, your wife.

Better look well before you marry!

Most times marriage is not what it is presumed to be. People have been lied to for years!

Don't blame the woman, blame the men who thinks it's about fostering peace in the home.

Obiorahpcfg

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail. Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

I will worst than ur wife sef

blaise26abj

oz4real83:

Forget that your wife is doing her Msc, what I draw from this is that the woman, your wife and the other women in that house are full-time housewives and gossiping is a common issue with full-time housewives, the Msc programme is just an excuse because it isn't full-time like undergraduate programme, your wife has excess time in her hands especially when ASUU strike gave her more time. Get a job or setup a business for your wife and this issue will die down on its own.

True . Na person wey dey house dey dey available for gossips . If she dey go somewhere dey return tired , trust me it will fade away . Don't cut off your friend oh . Worse case scenario , get a general place where Una go dey meet and be men . No dey carry woman wahala for head . You just wasted brain storage capacity with this issue instead make use am store information for making money

JayPeeOham

PerfectStranger:

Women and gossip 5&6. Big red flag.

Imagine the little drama they created in your compound due to Cho Cho Cho.

My advise to you is that you ask your friend to stay away from your apartment for now till all the bad energies fizzles out. Your wife is still angry and she has the right tho be because she wasn't the one at fault. You and your friend can still talk on the phone, and meet somewhere else.

If there is anyone to blame then it should be your friend's wife.

As a matter of fact, you should ask your friend politely to warn his wife not to disrespect your wife next time!

Gush, I hate lousy and uncouth women!!!

So It's on her head!!!

Ameduedwin

you people must be a yuroba, don't say I am triberlistic, Yoruba women are found of That, gossiping, set two people against themselves, gossiping from One rooms to another, they don't want when two people are cohitting together very well in a compound they must scatter you people. This thing you are saying is like you are saying it from my compound . Yuroba women are dangerous in a compound.

Starz825

Lonestar124:

You are a man, protect the interest of your innocent best friend, he has nothing to do in this gimmicks, as for her sister, my brother just mind your business and leave her to your wife....

Don't be too emotional, that is one of women maladies....

I can't believe this will be perturbation to you as a man.....

Oga ,no dey use that English perturbation again abegi...you dey make me dey remember masturbation 🍆

SGsport56

This is big wahala o, something suspicious is going on

Do you have challenges on how to create and edit football videos, or do you want to learn how to create them and earn from YouTube, then this incoming football editing video master class is for you, in this masterclass you will learn all that needs to be learned on how to create and edit football videos and how you can earn from it. To join this class you can reach me on what'sapp through the number on my profile signature

So much to learn

Starz825

JayPeeOham:

My advice to you is that you ask your friend to stay away from your apartment for now till all the bad energies fizzle out. Your wife is still angry and she has the right to be because she wasn't the one at fault.

You and your friend can still talk on the phone, and meet somewhere else.

If there is anyone to blame then it should be your friend's wife.

As a matter of fact, you should ask your friend politely to warn his wife not to disrespect your wife next time!

Gush, I hate lousy and uncouth women!!!

So it's on her head!!!

Not his friend's wife..oga

Na him friend's sister

princewarri1985

The best thing for you to do is for everybody to mind their business! And lastly your wife does not have the right to tell you not to allow your best friend in to your apartment, and this only proves that you are a weak man

2Radii

Sweetplum:

It's just normal gossip stuffs naa

alaye una too get wahala jare

Latestnewslines

Evibez-TV will be doing 20,000 Naira Give away once it reaches 1000 subscribers.

Rush now and SUBSCRIBE then turn on notifications so you will be the first to know when the Give away begins.

CLICK link below to SUBSCRIBE.

https://youtube.com/channel/UC_4VtMmA7HJ78_gIJVDgm0A

kansoboy

Oga..u don't have best friend ooo. Listen to Ur wife and keep Ur family... U can go out and meet and spend time with Ur best friend.

Ur best friend is not Ur relations...if it was to be Ur relatives that Ur wife said she don't want to see again in Ur house, I would have told u to kick day Ur wife outside...but for those ones u called friend, make dem avoid Ur house. D friend may have been eyeing Ur wife at Ur back and Ur wife noticed it and she wants to avoid future problems.

So let Ur friend stop coming to Ur house., Go and meet dem and hang out somewhere

OvertheTop

detectivejones:

Everyone knows that whenever 2 or 3 women are gathered gossip is abundant. There is no how you'd listen to someone's incessant gossip without contributing to it, so your wife is guilty as well.

BTW I can't believe a man involved himself in women's then say them say matter.

He has to be concerned because, When Kasala burst and turn to (Police Case)

The Husband will be called for Interrogation and Also Bail.

so he can't ignore the Matter....

Waywardson6

Women gossip too much. Your best friend's wife is a PSYCHO & SADIST. Please tell your wife to stay away from her.

Juliearth

Your wife shouldn't have condoned the gossip from the get go. Nonetheless, something can still be done. Cut close ties with this woman. Your wife should devise a way of making all conversations with her concise and also cutting her off her trail of gossips.

franchasofficiala

Once Peter Obi wins, there will be enough jobs to keep Nigerians busy and there won't be need for gossiping in the compounds again.

My fellow country men and women, let's all be Obedient and vote for Peter Obi and Yusuf Datti for a better Nigeria in our lifetime, God bless you all 🙏

superCleanworks

Domipraiz:

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

.

In other homes, the wife will be the one to capitalize on her ASUU BREAK and dive into deep friendship with the gossip and cause havoc for the husband and all his warnings will be a waste.

You are fortunate to have someone that cuts off the PROBLEM and cuts off everything that will link her to the PROBLEM. You better find one nice pillow and relax. She has helped you dodge plenty wahala. As for your bestie, make una dey hangout away from home for now till you see your wife is calm again. Except you want to show your wife that you are part of the problem she is driving away.

Aguiyimba

Sweetplum:

It's just normal gossip stuffs naa

Gossip no dey normal again, any small space e don enter you.

killmods

Simple.. advice ur wife to save the hatred for the culprit alone. Like just simply tell her she's no longer welcome to the house. If her brother(Ur friend) decides to follow suit then so be it. That woman is a ticking time bomb waiting to explode

girlygirlyMain

Do you want to stay married? Or you want to be a sociable person?
RECEIVE SENSE & KEEP 3RD PARTIES OUT OF YOUR MARRIAGE

girlygirlyMain

What if the friends want to bleep her?
Make una dey get sense for this app

dbestuncle:

Abi your wife go beat you ni?.

Tell her that she can quarrel n even stop the gossip anywhere close to her n her family (women business not your problem) but your friend is not within her reach, she must respect her husband n your friend as much as she ought to.

Gbam!

WantsandMore

Tell your wife to invite both of them for tea, in the middle of the conversation barge in, say you heard a rumor blah blah blah, warn both of them you do not entertain unnecessary talk talk, meanwhile, talk to your wife that she should ask them to settle their differences after you leave else they both are not welcome. Meanwhile, explain to your friend the situation of things and how you both should chill outside until the women settle their differences. Men are understanding species. That same day carry your guy go flex, when you come back no even ask your wife anything. If she begins to talk talk ãCœjust say I trust you handle the situation as best as you could babe.ãC I trust your decision. no dey give any of the women face shaãC! just yuu and your guy chilling on the outside. Just stand by whatever decision your wife makes afterwards. Cos na your wife sabi them pass. Just dey mind your business. & next time warn your woman make she no dey confront neighbors without you on the know if she want your support. Spouse do things together. E just be like say your woman dey give you order. E no make sense.

lekani4real

Please dear men, don't for any reason allow your wife be a full time house wife. The day I tried resting at home, I almost ran mad from the gossip these women engage in. Almost ten of them, from 8 till around past 7pm, you won't believe it, very annoying.

RZArecta

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail.
Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

your wife is right. Tell your friend and everybody that you've stopped receiving area visitors because of the last problem, let everybody carry their cross

bluebay

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail.
Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

You brought this up on yourself from the day you still allowed you Wife to mingle with such Gossips. Something I can never withstand is for my family's name to be included in them say them say matter . I can chase my wife of if the house coz of that shit

WantsandMore

Iekani4real:

Please dear men, don't for any reason allow your wife be a full time house wife. The day I tried resting at home, I almost ran mad from the gossip these women engage in. Almost ten of them, from 8 till around past 7pm, you won't believe it, very annoying.

Lwkmd 🗣️🗣️...wetin you want mk them dey do

Cutehector

oz4real83:

Forget that your wife is doing her Msc, what I draw from this is that the woman, your wife and the other women in that house are full-time housewives and gossiping is a common issue with full-time housewives, the Msc programme is just an excuse because it isn't full-time like undergraduate programme, your wife has excess time in her hands especially when ASUU strike gave her more time. Get a job or setup a business for your wife and this issue will die down on its own.

apt

haslaw

oz4real83:

Forget that your wife is doing her Msc, what I draw from this is that the woman, your wife and the other women in that house are full-time housewives and gossiping is a common issue with full-time housewives, the Msc programme is just an excuse because it isn't full-time like undergraduate programme, your wife has excess time in her hands especially when ASUU strike gave her more time. Get a job or setup a business for your wife and this issue will die down on its own.

@ Domipraiz, Take the above advice seriously because it's the truth.

You tried to make your wife look different from the rest of the gossips but they are all the same thing.

Ten06

How important is that your best friend that if he doesn't come to your house heaven will fall? Or is the two of you into entanglement? You are the man of your house use your authority to sort things out. This issue is not a media issue.

kunle75

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has been at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leaves our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail. Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has been telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perhaps she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologized to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not too good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

Your wife is a smart woman, she is saving you from impending trouble that woman will eventually bring if you are not man enough to confront her to stop coming to your house. Let woman deal with woman abeg.

peacettw

I am going to conclude that you both are very young.. So many things could have been prevented.

To start with, your wife should learn to choose her friends wisely. Anybody that gossips about everyone and anything will most likely gossip about you too. It's just common sense.

Extending her angst to the woman's spouse and your friend is just beyond childish. Handle your affairs wisely. That's all I am going to say on this matter.

Lonestar124

grandstar:

Would you support his friend's sister being close to his wife again!? That's what will naturally happen once his friend starts coming to his home. He would try his best to reconcile them and their friendship may be rekindled.

He should be the one visiting his friend henceforth. He can also buy gifts on his first visit to his friend that the war between the two women is their own beef and it shouldn't affect theirs.

Your last paragraph is saying the same thing I wrote.....

sensei01

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail.
Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

Baba,this your story no too deunderstanding. g

Counterfeit

Your wife has no right preventing your best friend from coming to your house but, if you eventually succumb to her pressure regarding that, then you ain't man enough. So long as your best friend had no hands in their Yeye gossip, and his only crime is having a sister who gossips, then, your wife should do the needful by keeping your friend's sister at bay.

You do not need to tell your friend about his sister's behaviour, never discuss that incident with him unless his sister tells him, and he brings it up. Be diplomatic with your response to him, or you just tell him "O! boy, abeg make we live these women with their wahala ".

Whenever you come across your friend's sister, do try to say "hello", with a smile, and go about your business. In case your wife asks you why you still talk with, or greet your friend's sister, I guess you should be able to handle that aspect as MAN OF THE HOUSE!! Do not be a WIMP

deavicky

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail.
Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

when ur wife was enjoying the gossip did she tell ur friend?. She had used her hand to invite trouble and want to rub it on you. Well ur call choose between controlling ur wife or losing your friend.

Jelique

Only SIMPS meddle in the affairs of jobless house wives,take ur firendship with ur best friend else where,don't get him involved in ur nonsense mix.

jerk

Op are you matured at all?

yemmit90

Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail. Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

Is like you get alot of time on your side. Yours is to come home, eat, play with your family and go work or find something doing the next day. What these women or anyone do in the compound should be the least of your worries. Be a man sir.

Dchampion65

If you have ever been a victim of busybodies, you will remove your shoes, and pull your two ears before you will run.

The inferno created by busybodies can consume everyone in that compound.

Refusing to exposing her is very risky.

Call your friends and explain to him and shut the woman out.

Innocentbaloo

Your case is a simple one, if she gossip about another person in the compound then ask her if she's ready to say the same thing in the presence of that person that you want to call the person she gossips about. Next time she will not come again.

pongwa*Domipraiz:

Good evening to you all. I don't know if this is the right place to drop this.

Am a married man. I lived in the same compound with my best friend sister. We Just moved into the neighborhood not too long (11 months ago). My friend's sister is also married with kids.

Let me go straight to the point, ever since we moved into the compound this woman has been disturbing my wife with gossip. She's a full house wife while my wife is running a M.sc programme but due to ASUU strike, she has being at home. This woman will come to my wife and talk bad things about everyone living in the neighborhood including those living in our compound. Most funny thing about her is that once she leave our apartment, she's moving into the next apartment.

My wife and I have studied her very well that most time we try to avoid, ignore or resist her from coming to our house but to no avail. Not that I can't warn her to stop coming but am trying to avoid issues that will arise between me and my friend and also her husband.

She was keeping malice with another woman (Mrs Adelaku) in our compound because the woman ignored her totally as a result of her gossip.

Last two weeks Mrs Adelaku came to our apartment to invite my wife to her brother's wedding and as a result of that she thinks my wife is getting closer to that woman.

Yesterday she came to our house and confronted my wife of gossiping with the other woman (Mrs Adelaku) about her. That when neighbors are trying to settle issues between her and Mrs Adelaku that she quoted my wife. She accused my wife of telling Mrs Adelaku everything she has being telling her. And also tell my wife not to confront Mrs Adelaku.

But my wife went to Mrs Adelaku that same day to confront her but she swear with the bible and everything she has that she never tell her anything related to that. That perphers she and my wife are not a gist partner if not for the wedding invitation that she brought.

With anger, my wife went back to this woman (my friend sister) and tell her what the woman said. She later apologies to my wife that it was a trick. That she just wants to know their discussing that when she came with the wedding I.V she discovered that the woman (Mrs Adelaku) stayed a little bit longer in our apartment.

Ever since my wife has developed so much hatred for her/ her husband and even my friend that she doesn't want to see anyone of them again in our apartment.

Am so sorry for the long story, am not to good in this. Kindly bear with me.

What can I do in this situation? Matured mind please, thanks.

I didn't read through but you should obey your wife to avoid stories that touch

slimfit1

Good, now you can take your side chick to his house win win situation.

Sweetplum

bewla:

You like it abi

Don't tell me it's a profession

Apro

gbenu dake

Naijaolosho2

nonen:

Tell your friend that his sister is mischievous and trying to damage your marriage to your wife and relationship with other neighbours. Tell him that your wife has decided that no friends come to the house going forward until these issues are resolved.

You can always meet your best friend outside your home.

Your wife is a responsible woman and has made the right decision. If she continues association with that woman, youâ€™d be here next year saying women are scum or that youâ€™re divorced.

You can choose your wife and respect her decision and have peace or choose your best friend and his irresponsible sister and make your peaceful home a circle of crisis!

Best comment ever. OP please stick to this.

Walks out of thread